Thy Kingdom Come!

Dear Friends,

As many of you have heard I am moving to Atlanta. However, I imagine that there might be some questions about this rather sudden change of events. I haven't been forthright with you and I apologize for that. For personal reasons, I needed to take a step back from active ministry and receive help and support. I have requested to be reassigned to Atlanta to continue to receive this support. Please forgive me for not being clear about this earlier.

I enjoyed working with you all. I have always felt like I received more than I contributed to the mission in Dallas. I will always cherish the memories. I can say with confidence that the Dallas Locality is strong because of each of you and your dedication to the mission in service to the Church.

I want you to know how aware I am that this does not come at the best time or in the best way for those I have accompanied personally and their families and for the development of Regnum Christi in Dallas. I apologize for how this will affect all of you. I trust in the Good Shepherd to take care of you all and that my Legionary brothers who remain in Dallas will be able to serve you well.

Know that you are in my prayers and please pray for me. I hope to stay in touch with you in the future. God Bless!

Yours in Christ,
Fr. Edward Bentley, LC
